---A Lood Time at Green Bay.

I mercy manue of the Sentinet. The person who imagines that Green Bay, is indefinitely situated in the misty regions somewhere configuous to the Boreau regions: and that the Pole Reelf and Symma? Hole are veside from the tallest Green Bay spire, is a tool that ought to be shook up into realif y as we have been, by a stay of two or three days in this prettiest of towns. You know every town is the "prettiest spot in creation" to its (we inhabitants, and that to call a place beautifulty situated and all that, is folly indeed. "if it is so pleasant," says the reader, "tell us how; describe it?"

A games at the map will show you how a rous sits of the sea drops, down to the very dears of our Green Bay people, and the same glates will show you the Fox winding through Cutagamic and Brown Counties with Louise Papparent motive than to get at Green down to the junction of the Fox and the bay, Civilization first broke ground in Wisconsin. It was owing entirely to the "cuteness" of these early fathers that Green Bay sprouted. They had an eye to natural surroundings of E1. FRANCIS XAVIER established a mission at Depete, some five miles up the river, in 1069. The location is still pointed out, but bothing remains to gratify the antiquary; and a moneter grist-mill whirls its iron shafts above the first-consecrated ground.

The city of Green Bay is tastefully laid out and has none of the raw or forced appearance of things which characterizes so returned to our friends-complaining that many poung towns. Everything in stately and respectable. An air of old aristocrapy lingers about the piace; and a man, as he approaches it, or rides through its long strocts, suchowered in elm and locust trees, is charmed with the solidity and comfort, everywhere mingled with the beauty, and Le makes up his mind that Green Bay was bain to the tune of "Home, Sweet Home." The hospitality of the people will soon pass toto a proverb. Their facilities for entertaining strangers are wonderful. We were caught up on the gangway-plank of the best slipped into a vehicle, and whipped off to a private residence, before we had time to *.k if the "United States Hotel" was in ex as the yet and whether its landlord charged five delicate a meal, as was reported.

EDITORIAL BOINGS. It was a severe disappointment to the good people of this burgh, that instead of two handred editors, there were only about thirty present. Complete arrangements had been made u view of the convention, to accom andate all who might come, and as all their preparation had to be divided up among thirty, some faint idea may be formed of the responsibility which attached to us. Later, the great Colonel took us aboard the Mary Howe, and shot us from Green Bay to the lighthouse, which "looks to be" hundred miles or so out in the bay. It bles nicely when we got there. Whew! You might have leaned up against the wind like a post without falling over. The beautiful oraft sailed entirely on one side, and jumpe the waves with an agility that turned m brain. This was yachting. I stood in the box holding on with a deathless grip, to the shrouds, (appropriate name) and when an ex tra blast of wind came and twisted my head around,I caught a momentary picture of fou or five horrified e ditorial faces in the stern ty. It wells quite clear that "union and their eyes protruding, and their hair dancing Lieuway are out of the q ueion, and that about their visages like so many pennons in the centre was the cheerful countenance of the Colonel. Ha! what reliance we placed on the Colonel. When misgivings entered our minds that he intended to carry us with his powerful wings up to "Death's Door" and upset us accidentally, for the sake of the Democracy; we looked at his benign face, the wind whistled around it, but it was serene, and obejoyful. It was an anchor of hope, painted red. We shall never forget that pleasant cruise in the Mary Howe, how gal lautly she sped homewards, and how we got all over tar in our anxiety to become an fait in nautical terms, and afterwards forgot whether starboard meant port or Maderia, and asked one of our companions at night, if he "wouldn't belay the bed curtains and

We both screamed-and the cause was this-immediately in front of us there is sued as from the "vasty deep," a most unearthly and terrific noise, and immediately afterward there appeared the head and shoulders of a water monster. Green Bay possesses a sufficiency of churches-more than is usually allotted to a city of her size, but not one too many. I think I counted seven spires from Fort Howard. THE VISIT OF THE PRINCE OF WALES,-At a meeting of the Montreal Council, the special committee on the Prince of Wales! isit reported that since the former report they had two interviews with the citizens' committee, and the result was the framing of the following programme: 1. The chartering of a steamer to go down the river to meet the Prince.

2. The erection of triumphal arches along the route of the royal cortege. 3. A general illumination of the public buildings, and a torch-light procession. 4. A displey of fire-works commensurate with the greatness of the occasion. Also the preparation of a grand ball room; Indian games; grand trade procession and steamboat excursion.

Genman Wine Makers .- The report reaches us from Bremen that crowds of industrious German vine-growers and farmers are leaving that port, all headed for Missouri. Some three hundred have already reached St. Louis. They are regarded as the very best immigrants that could enter a State, and the branch of agriculture which they pursus is a deeply-important one for the country. It is interesting to know, too, that they will greatly increase the Free-Labor force of Missouri, and hasten on the day of emancipation. This immigration is the fruit of many persavering efforts on the part of the "Farmers' and Vine-Growers' Society" of New York, who last year dispatched an agent cessively full.

There is a great and f singular confusion of rumors. The Douglasites are very confident, and his opponents bitter. The administration encourages a disruption of the party if they cannot defeat Douglas. The Douglasites will try hard to start early at Rallimore. Baltimore. Their tacties are not to drive off the whole crowd of fire eaters, so as to make the ad-journed Richmond Convention ineffectual.— Therefore they will not appose the Seceders taking their seats on the floor, and to get up an excuse for the Southern men to stay with them, will consent to add a compromise resolution to the platform.

The fire enters declare their indifference as to their addission. They are rather anxious that the Douglasites should be insulting so as to draw off a greater force with them when to draw on a greater large with them when they go.

Louglas's friends appreciate this point, and will try to conciliate the fire-eaters, and do the job in a workmanlike manner.

The Douglas policy is to force the Southern seceders to remain outside, to admit the bogus delegations from Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana, and put Douglas through by lightning express. The theory that there can exist in any State, civilized or barbarous, human beings too mean and degraded to offer a petition to their relers, has never been promulgated before—not even in the rankest of Oriental despotsms. The right of prayer to superiors is the only right which no tyrant, however insane or besotted, ever thought of denying to those whem he trampled on. The meanest rayah could always freely petition the Sultan; the foulest Parlah between Travancore and the Himalayas, and whose touch was eternal pollution, could always beg a favor of the Grand Megul in his palmiest days. The poorest Majik can lay his prayer at the Can's feet. Ferdinand of Naples, even, was open to the supplications of any-body who choose to acknowledge his authority. The Japanese Embassy. Hear the New York Mercury on the Japan-

From our Own Reporter.
WASHINGTON, May 28, 1860. The arrival of the Japaneso Embasadors in this city has created an immense sensation, and the British Minister, fainted away three times yesterday from sheer jealousy.

Of course everybody will be interested in anything relating to the peculiar people, and i would perhaps, be as well to give a

HISTORY OF JAPAN.

Japan is a large island, situated on a kingdom in the Mediterranean abyas; and was discovered by the angel (labriel a few days before the creation. It is bounded on the north by some place, on the south by another place, on the east by a country, the name of which I have forgot, and on the west by a country whose name has slipped my memory. It was orig nally settled by the Sun, who managed to make quite a rays at first, and rose on the world quite rapidly. His son is the present Tycoon of Japan, and is noted for his skill in preparing missionary soup. Stewed missionary with none of your sance, is a very favorite dish throughout the kingdom. About twenty five conturies ago sauce, is a very favorite dish throughout the kingdom. About twenty-five centuries ago an Embassy was sent to Rome, for the purpose of procuring a few of the Pape's townails to be used as toothepicks. They ashieved the object of their mission, and so pleased the Tycoon that he immediately cut off their heads and placed them under the soil of his private kitchen garden. It is one of the beautiful traditions of Japan, that, from the good when these beauts were build. com the spot where these heads were builed, superb crop of cabbages at once spring up. The Embassadors now in America are image diate descendents of the moon, and were selected for the present Embresay on assumet of their thorough acquaintance with moonshine.

APPEARANCE OF THE EMBASSADORS They are fine, stout men, of the cotor of smoked-beef, and are said to behold with their roses. Their costume is a singular combination of Japan ware, and consists principally of a tea cannis-ter for the head and a couple of petticoats, ornamented with two swords and numerons brass buttons. They always stand up when they walk and sit down when they take a sent; and their intelligent interpreter talls us that they lie down when they go to sleep. The following are

THE NAMES OF THE EMBASSADORS.

Old Hyson, Prince of Yellow Umbellas Young Hyson, Principal office seeker of ie Empire; T. Pot, Keeper of the Sacred Elephant;

T. Caddy, Master of the Fine-tooth Comb; With interpreter, servants, trunks, new publications, and fleas too numerous to mention. When the Philadelphia landed her noble passengers, the Navy Yard presented one of the most striking coupsed it ever witnessed. As far as the eye could reach, every spot was covered with reporters for the Heraid; and, as the Embassadors stepped ashore, the brass band gave "Hark! from the Toomts," with splendid effect. Six hundred officers of the army and navy attended each Embassador, and, as they advanced up from the wharf, the Reception Committee moved to meet them in the following order:

The President of the United States,
Five Thousand Office-seckers. RECEPTION OF THE EMBASSY.

Standing here before you, as I do, in a city that hears the name of the hero of America, I welcome you to the land of the free, and wish you to be informed of the fact that we cannot protect the rights of citizens of foreign birth (like yourselves) if they once leave the country. And now ladies—I mean geattlemen—suppose we move for the Witter House." suppose we move for the White House."

Through their interpreter, the talented Inapiensi, the Embassadors replied:

"Your Majety—The Tysoon of Japan sendy mooch good tings to de dam Yankees and wishy you goot."

The touching tribute to our greatness as a nation was received with loud applause; and hastily applying a handkerchief to his eyes, the President stepped into a neighboring barroom. On arriving at the State Department the servants of the Embassy hastily proceeded to unpack the presents sent by the Tycoon to the President, and soon had them in fit order for presentation. They comprise the following singularly appropriate gifts:

3 tooth brushes,

S tooth brushes,

4 Flanuel Petticoate, 1 Pound of Green Tea, 2 Soup Ladles, 1 Dozen packs of Fire-crackers, 6 Kites, 1 Pound of Butter, 6 Wash-tubs

4 Tooth Picks. The whole State Department burst into an agony of tears on beholding these beautiful tokens of the estimation in which our beloved country is held by the rulers of a foreign land; and the artist of Frank Leslie's made such truthful drawings of the presents, that a new petticoat was at once presented to him by the delighted visitors. After being taken by the designed visitors. After being taken through the various interesting localities of Washington, such as the barber shops, the confectioners, etc., the Embussy were permitted to return to their rooms and refresh them selves with a couple of fricaseed birds' nests.

Engranual Conscinence .-- The Memphis Enquirer is now edited by two gentlemen who served together in the United States Senate for several years; were the representatives of different States; were both, at the time, strong Democrats, and are both now strong Democrats, and are both now strong opponents of the Democratic party, and supporters of Bell and Everett. No other journal in the Union possesses so remarkable a feature as this coincidence in its editorial department. The Hon. JERE CLEKENS, and the Hon. Solon P. Borland are the Senators alluded to.

It is accompanied by a working model of a full sized fifty passenger carriage, forty-eight feet in length, from which we have had prepared the accompanying illustrations repsenting the body of the Lee Car, raised up as it would appear when passing through snow; also a floor pan showing the internal arrangement of the machinery and accommodations of such a carriage. The Lady Franklin is constructed upon the same plan, but is only twenty-eight feet long and seven test wide, and is designed to carry but twenty passengers.

Franklin is constructed upon the same plan, but is only twenty-eight feet long and seven feet wide, and is designed to carry but twenty passengers.

Essentially, the Ice Car consists of a cabin or car, reating on a sort of a hull, supported on runners, the cabin being above the surfaces of the water when in an unfrozen stream. The hull gives great buoyaucy to the suffice system by containing water tight compartments. On ice, the Car operates on the four short runners, which are provided with polisified Shoes of chilled cast iron. The motive power is derived from two high pressure engines, eight inch piston and twelve inchestive the connecting rods of steel are attached to the crank shaft of a single driving wheel. This is situated in the middle of the back part of the hull, its periphery be-

MONETARY.
MONDAY, P. M., June 18th, 1860. The Banks report a slight stringency in the exchange market to-day, but with the present comparatively active movement of produce there is scarcely a passibility of any advance in the rate. Money continues plenty, the demand for business purposes being nadeouate to absorb the amount of capi al seeking investment, and applications for discounts backed by good names are accepted with unusual w linguess.

New York Dip Goods Market

New York, June 15.

Transactions through the regular channels are limited, as usual at this easen. The manufacturing clothers are buying very cautiously, and the anticipations of declers with have provided for this trade are hardly met. Heavy losses have been made in previous eases one by carrying are recek, and clothers are not in cilized to rise periodic file experience. A good degree of confidence is manifested that a fair Fail trade will be done with the West and South, shough the impression prevails that the latter section is overstocked with goods. The profits to be realized will, of course, opined upon the degree of moderation exercised by importers and manufacturers in providing for the demand. Of British goods it is probable that the importations will be moderate.
